

THE HERALD.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH.

Advertisements in this column at 5 cents per line per week.

Advertisements in this column at 5 cents per line per week.

WHAT ABOUT 1892?

If you have not made your advertising arrangements for the coming year, let THE HERALD make some figures for you.

EVERYBODY READS THE HERALD.

All Democrats that have not yet completed their naturalization and are entitled thereto, can get their final papers this week in the Third district court.

The deputy registrars will hold session in the dining room of the Metropolitan hotel, corner Third and West Temple streets.

LOCAL LYRICS.

Crip and Confused News of General Interest and Import.

REMEMBER this is the last day for registration.

REMEMBER, you who have not yet registered, to-day.

REMEMBER, you who have not yet registered, to-day.

REMEMBER, you who have not yet registered, to-day.

REMEMBER, you who have not yet registered, to-day.

REMEMBER, you who have not yet registered, to-day.

REMEMBER, you who have not yet registered, to-day.

REMEMBER, you who have not yet registered, to-day.

REMEMBER, you who have not yet registered, to-day.

REMEMBER, you who have not yet registered, to-day.

REMEMBER, you who have not yet registered, to-day.

REMEMBER, you who have not yet registered, to-day.

REMEMBER, you who have not yet registered, to-day.

REMEMBER, you who have not yet registered, to-day.

REMEMBER, you who have not yet registered, to-day.

REMEMBER, you who have not yet registered, to-day.

REMEMBER, you who have not yet registered, to-day.

REMEMBER, you who have not yet registered, to-day.

REMEMBER, you who have not yet registered, to-day.

REMEMBER, you who have not yet registered, to-day.

COL. DODGE TALKS

What the R. G. W. Extension Depends Upon.

NO THROUGH LINE CONTEMPLATED

The Steep Papers Have Just Learned of the Changes Which The Herald Announced a Month Ago.

Several weeks ago, when THE HERALD announced that certain changes in the local office of the Rio Grande Western railroad would be made on New Year's day, all the ladder papers that obtain their news at second hand, or not at all, pooled together to get the Denver papers to take it up in the same strain.

THE HERALD is never mistaken. When it gives publicity to an item of such importance it is generally backed by good authority.

When Superintendent Hancock came a year ago retired from the Rio Grande Western, THE HERALD forecasted the fact.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

THE HERALD forecasted the fact of the coming of the new general passenger and freight agent of the Rio Grande Western, and his assistant, William Brown, from their respective positions.

pushing on to Deep Creek, and ultimately reaching the golden sands of the Pacific.

Count Wannick.

The Nobleman From Salt Lake Decamps From Denver.

One of the nobility of Italy, a real count, has visited Denver, and strange to relate society did not open her arms to him.

Count Oscar Wannick, of Naples, a tall, well-formed nobleman of thirty-one summers, with dark eyes and mustache, and that pleasing manner which goes so far toward captivating the fair sex, has come and gone, and society has just awakened to the fact that a golden opportunity has been missed.

Count Wannick had a title, but if all reports are true he had no money, for the various devices to obtain means of support and the various articles necessary to a society man's happiness have gotten him into considerable trouble here.

The count registered at the Albany about three weeks ago and immediately applied for admission to the circles of the select four hundred.

About this time news came from Salt Lake city that the count had not conducted himself as a gentleman of high birth should have been, in fact that he had been seen in the most vulgar and dissipated manner.

This took money and the count soon became short, so he persuaded his fiancée's mother to mortgage certain properties she owned and advance him $2,000 with which he could visit New York and procure certain moneys that were being held in trust for him there.

But there is one thing evident, that Wannick is not a nobleman, for he is a man of no means, and he is a man of no means, and he is a man of no means.

The next heard from him he appears in Denver, soon visits nearly all the large saloons and clubs of this city, and then he disappears.

Some of the tradesmen of this city become so indignant at this manner of doing business that they intimate that they will no longer do business with him.

Lawyer Wannick was seen at his office last night, and when asked about the count after his recent visit, said: "Count Wannick has left Denver, and nearly all of his belongings have been sold here."

Not so, however, with your right man. Wannick has a new line of business, and he is a man of no means, and he is a man of no means.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

There is a general feeling of despondency among railroad men when they are applied to for a pass, and in some cases, even the stern mandates of the interstate commerce commission are of no avail.

THE SPORTING WORLD

The Athletic Exhibition at Electric Light Hall.

LYNOTT AND RICHARDS SPAR

Referee Williams Make Them Fight Eleven Rounds—Some Interesting Events—Tug of War—Sporting Splinters.

The benefit tendered to Herbert A. Slade, the Moor, at Electric Light hall last evening attracted a fair-sized crowd and the entertainment proved very interesting.

It opened with a four-round bout between Jack Hays and George Anderson, two very clever light-weights. They sparred with a great deal of dash and gave a pretty exhibition.

At the end of the four rounds, however, were about even and the referee called it a draw.

Next came a catch-as-catch-can wrestling contest, three in five, between Gus Hardwick and Hobe Mackey. The latter was not so well as Hays, who had his mind made up for the first fall in about three seconds.

The next out was a repetition of the first, except that it didn't last quite so long. Mackey's exertions in this bout were not very weary, but Harding would not be denied and soon had his hold. The struggle lasted about half an hour, with Mackey being down with three points on the carpet.

Captain C. H. Kelly then came on and gave one of the prettiest exhibitions of club swinging ever witnessed here. The most difficult and beautiful evolutions were performed by the two men, and the case was greatly pleased by the spectators.

The programme was now varied by a three-round sparring contest between champion Jim Williams and Jack Martin. The latter, of course, was outclassed, but he made it quite interesting for the champions by showing up in magnificent form.

Williams' exertions in this bout were not very fatiguing, as he appeared in the next set with Tom Molligan a scrapper from "Frisco" who was "red in condition," and the affair only lasted a round.

Then came the most interesting set of the night, the principals being Lynott, the plucky young fighter from the fort, and Richards, "the colored cyclone." Jim Williams acted as referee, and at 9:35 time was called upon to referee.

Lynott opened the ball with a punch in the face, and cautious sparring followed, both men waiting for an opening. Towards the end of the round, Lynott tried for the stomach and landed lightly.

The coon opened hostilities in the second with a drive for the face, but was short. This was followed by an exchange, Lynott getting in on the ear, while Richards left his trade mark on his opponent's body.

Richards would not make a move off of the defensive. Lynott did everything in his power to tempt him, but the coon declined. With more and more vigor, Richards came on the body, and Richards made one lead and the round ended.

In the fourth, Richards became reckless and the plucky young fighter from the fort, Lynott, managed to land a good one on the shoulder. Lynott made one lead for the body, but was short. The gladiators occurred in the fifth round, which brought forth a chorus of groans and hisses.

There was a decided improvement in the sixth round, which was a real one. Lynott caught a light one on the ribs in return. The coon again led, and got in a good one on the body. Richards was on the body. The round closed with another exchange, which did no particular damage.

The seventh round opened with cautious sparring, and finally Lynott got an opening. Then how he did wake up. He followed up his advantage and planted four or five blows on the face of the coon. A stand and returned every blow with interest.

At the end of the round, Lynott was the victor. The coon was badly hurt, and the crowd immensely, though the sparring did not seem to be particularly pleased with the result. Richards, however, was the ring as usual, and the three minutes went by without anything being done.

The referee had to stop the fight, and finally the men indulged in just enough sparring to break the monotony of the thing, and time was called.

In the eighth, Richards led with a drive for the body, landed, followed it up and got in on the face. A moment later the coon got in another on the face and the round was over. Lynott then commenced landing three times on the face, but each time he neglected to follow his advantage.

It was the coon's turn next, and he gave home on the body a couple of times. Richards, who was a little out of his head, was a little out of his head, and he was a little out of his head.

Nothing was done until some time in the ninth, when the coon landed a good one on the body. Richards, who was a little out of his head, was a little out of his head, and he was a little out of his head.

The tenth round was a repetition of the ninth, and Referee Williams called for another, announcing that if nothing was done this time neither party would get anything. More applause.

The men came up and as Lynott made two or three leads during the round the crowd announced that he had a chance of the best of it and gave him the contest.

The exhibition closed with a set-to between Slade and O'Brien, of Philadelphia. This bout was simply for points and gave entire satisfaction.

It was expected that there would be some further pulls in the tug-of-war tournament, but the Scandinavians were so well matched that they put an appearance and they found some of the apparatus gone. The standing of the teams was as follows: Norway first, Sweden second, and the United States third.

The American team, under Captain Lange, and a picked team of "Scandinavians," including Larson, the great anchor of the Norwegians, pulled to-night at Walker's pavilion for $200 a side and the entire game was a success. The Scandinavians were victorious, and there will be some exciting contests when they come together.

SPORTING SPLITTERS. It is expected that Peter Jackson, Riddan and Sam Fitzpatrick will be here about Wednesday night to give an exhibition, and Colonel Kelly has hopes of arranging a meeting between Jim Williams and Fitzpatrick.

Next summer will witness considerable activity in boating. The season is in splendid condition now, and is fit to go against the best of them.

SILVER HORSEBOIL WORKS. No. 149 West North Temple.

THE SPORTING WORLD

The Athletic Exhibition at Electric Light Hall.

LYNOTT AND RICHARDS SPAR

Referee Williams Make Them Fight Eleven Rounds—Some Interesting Events—Tug of War—Sporting Splinters.

The benefit tendered to Herbert A. Slade, the Moor, at Electric Light hall last evening attracted a fair-sized crowd and the entertainment proved very interesting.

It opened with a four-round bout between Jack Hays and George Anderson, two very clever light-weights. They sparred with a great deal of dash and gave a pretty exhibition.

At the end of the four rounds, however, were about even and the referee called it a draw.

Next came a catch-as-catch-can wrestling contest, three in five, between Gus Hardwick and Hobe Mackey. The latter was not so well as Hays, who had his mind made up for the first fall in about three seconds.

The next out was a repetition of the first, except that it didn't last quite so long. Mackey's exertions in this bout were not very weary, but Harding would not be denied and soon had his hold. The struggle lasted about half an hour, with Mackey being down with three points on the carpet.

Captain C. H. Kelly then came on and gave one of the prettiest exhibitions of club swinging ever witnessed here. The most difficult and beautiful evolutions were performed by the two men, and the case was greatly pleased by the spectators.

The programme was now varied by a three-round sparring contest between champion Jim Williams and Jack Martin. The latter, of course, was outclassed, but he made it quite interesting for the champions by showing up in magnificent form.

Williams' exertions in this bout were not very fatiguing, as he appeared in the next set with Tom Molligan a scrapper from "Frisco" who was "red in condition," and the affair only lasted a round.

Then came the most interesting set of the night, the principals being Lynott, the plucky young fighter from the fort, and Richards, "the colored cyclone." Jim Williams acted as referee, and at 9:35 time was called upon to referee.

Lynott opened the ball with a punch in the face, and cautious sparring followed, both men waiting for an opening. Towards the end of the round, Lynott tried for the stomach and landed lightly.

The coon opened hostilities in the second with a drive for the face, but was short. This was followed by an exchange, Lynott getting in on the ear, while Richards left his trade mark on his opponent's body.

Richards would not make a move off of the defensive. Lynott did everything in his power to tempt him, but the coon declined. With more and more vigor, Richards came on the body, and Richards made one lead and the round ended.

In the fourth, Richards became reckless and the plucky young fighter from the fort, Lynott, managed to land a good one on the shoulder. Lynott made one lead for the body, but was short. The gladiators occurred in the fifth round, which brought forth a chorus of groans and hisses.

There was a decided improvement in the sixth round, which was a real one. Lynott caught a light one on the ribs in return. The coon again led, and got in a good one on the body. Richards was on the body. The round closed with another exchange, which did no particular damage.

The seventh round opened with cautious sparring, and finally Lynott got an opening. Then how he did wake up. He followed up his advantage and planted four or five blows on the face of the coon. A stand and returned every blow with interest.

At the end of the round, Lynott was the victor. The coon was badly hurt, and the crowd immensely, though the sparring did not seem to be particularly pleased with the result. Richards, however, was the ring as usual, and the three minutes went by without anything being done.

The referee had to stop the fight, and finally the men indulged in just enough sparring to break the monotony of the thing, and time was called.

In the eighth, Richards led with a drive for the body, landed, followed it up and got in on the face. A moment later the coon got in another on the face and the round was over. Lynott then commenced landing three times on the face, but each time he neglected to follow his advantage.

It was the coon's turn next, and he gave home on the body a couple of times. Richards, who was a little out of his head, was a little out of his head, and he was a little out of his head.

Nothing was done until some time in the ninth, when the coon landed a good one on the body. Richards, who was a little out of his head, was a little out of his head, and he was a little out of his head.

The tenth round was a repetition of the ninth, and Referee Williams called for another, announcing that if nothing was done this time neither party would get anything. More applause.

The men came up and as Lynott made two or three leads during the round the crowd announced that he had a chance of the best of it and gave him the contest.

The exhibition closed with a set-to between Slade and O'Brien, of Philadelphia. This bout was simply for points and gave entire satisfaction.

It was expected that there would be some further pulls in the tug-of-war tournament, but the Scandinavians were so well matched that they put an appearance and they found some of the apparatus gone. The standing of the teams was as follows: Norway first, Sweden second, and the United States third.

The American team, under Captain Lange, and a picked team of "Scandinavians," including Larson, the great anchor of the Norwegians, pulled to-night at Walker's pavilion for $200 a side and the entire game was a success. The Scandinavians were victorious, and there will be some exciting contests when they come together.

SPORTING SPLITTERS. It is expected that Peter Jackson, Riddan and Sam Fitzpatrick will be here about Wednesday night to give an exhibition, and Colonel Kelly has hopes of arranging a meeting between Jim Williams and Fitzpatrick.

Next summer will witness considerable activity in boating. The season is in splendid condition now, and is fit to go against the best of them.

SILVER HORSEBOIL WORKS. No. 149 West North Temple.

ROYAL Baking Powder

is the only one made

free from lime, alum, and all extraneous substances, and ABSOLUTELY PURE. It is in every way

superior to every similar preparation. WITNESS:

The United States Government tests (Chemical Division, Agricultural Department) show Royal Baking Powder a cream of tartar powder superior to all others in leavening strength.—See BULLETIN 13, AG. DEP., p. 599.

I find the Royal Baking Powder superior to all the others in every respect. It is purest and strongest.

WALTER S. HAINES, M. D., Prof. Chemistry Rush Medical College, Consulting Chemist Chicago Board of Health, etc.

I have found the constituents of Royal Baking Powder to be of a high degree of purity, free from adulteration or admixture of deleterious substances.

J. W. MALLETT, Ph. D., F. R. S., Prof. of Chemistry, University of Virginia.

LADIES, LET US REMIND YOU That camphor and carbolic acid mixtures are very drying and irritating and will darken the clearest skin. Eucora cream contains neither, is delightfully perfumed and makes the skin beautifully soft, white and smooth. Eucora. Druggists.

THE DESERT SAVING BANK. The attention of those desiring to open savings accounts is called to the Desert Savings Bank, which allows interest on deposits at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, compounded quarterly. Money loaned on approved real estate security. Its officers are as follows:

JOHN SHARP, President. MOSES THATCHER, Vice-President. E. A. SMITH, Cashier. DIRECTORS.

JOHN SHARP, J. R. BARNES, JAMES SHARP, D. H. PERRY, MOSES THATCHER, J. T. LITTLE, HENRY DUNWOODIE, ELIAS A. SMITH, F. S. BLANCHARD, CHAS. W. WILSON, C. E. PARKER, wife and daughter, of Davenport, Iowa, are among the guests at the Continental.

Messrs. C. E. WILLIAMS, private secretary for Mr. J. H. Bennett, Rio Grande Western railroad, and the general agent of the Missouri Pacific, returned from San Francisco on Thursday, after a very pleasant trip. They were accompanied by their wives and children. They were very much pleased with their trip, and were very much pleased with their trip.

The first selection was a quartet selection sung by Col. Housh, Mr. Leake, and Messrs. Chandler and Whitney, this being well appreciated. Mrs. Ella Horsley gave a recitation, her subject being a Hungarian translation piece, which gave her an opportunity to make a good showing of her fine literary powers. She was much applauded,